SENIORS

Seniors

Seniors were really Earnest, sincere, and hard-working this year—until second semester, that is. On Senior Work-Day, for example, students diligently wielded broom and pail against an absolutely filthy Highland Park. Seniors also devoted their time, energy, and bad spelling to "Synothe Times," a stunts show that was truly newsworthy.

No matter how Swift the year, there were certain obstacles which even the grade-grubbingest seniors could not overcome. Seniors courageous enough to take E9 and E10 found themselves becoming sick over symptom-disease themes and reactionary over progressively organized papers. Biology students were ribbed about their continuous association with a bunch of pigs.

Nevertheless, most seniors survived.

These are the heads . . .

All year the junior class was buzzing with activity. Their first production was the publication of Buzz Book which, as usual, was put out by a hard cored few. The final result was excellent; there was nothing phony about it. The junior class sailed in for another victory during homecoming weekend when their nine-foot LBJ float won first prize in the float contest. Prom, of course, was even better than promised . . . Ears to the Juniors!

Sophomore Class

The sophomore class zoomed into its second year at Highland Park High School with an accelerated roar. Flashing pink licenses, sophs gaily traversed the range of roads opened to them. Simulated by their freshman year, the sophomores set out to prove that driver's ed is more fun than health. The driving urge to learn characterized the class in all its endeavors. Jumping on the band wagon, sophs became proficient in delaying tactics. This was due to speech class. One may also postulate but never prove that geometry enriched the minds of sophomore math students. However, while some students were busy graphing solutions to complicated problems others were fermenting new hypotheses for biology experiments. "Leaping frogs," exclaimed student after student deep in the studies of plants and animals. In another part of the school students foamed at the mouth while wrestling with the newly learned three-three paragraph. Wuthering under the strain of lengthy compositions, sophs sought relief in Roman myths and heroes.

Freshman Class

Freshmen enter their high school daze with a healthful outlook on life. Lonely and lost, a freshman is truly a human comedy of errors. Many myths have been exploded about freshmen, but, after the first few months of school, freshmen are no longer yearlings. Frosh, unaccustomed to hard work, soon find themselves bogged down with Spanish or wondering whether they will ever be able to decipher their algebraic equations. Once oriented, however, frosh become cultured in their history and chemically balanced in their science courses. With a smug satisfaction and armed with their completed four-year plans, freshmen are ready to meet the challenges of their sophomore year . . . or so they think.

Administration

At the beginning of the year, Dr. Price and Mr. Panther presented a glowing example of statesmanship and diplomacy by speaking about faculty-student relationships before concerned students, who gave them a warm welcome. In an unusual display of benevolence, the administration then decided to allow students to serve time in detention hall after, instead of during, school. The administration also provided entertainment for the student body by issuing daily session notices, chock-full of unexpurgated comments on student conduct. However the tragic extinction of daily session periods often prevented many students from enjoying the benefits of the articulate literary style of these witticisms. In addition, many of last year's privileges were rescinded though the administration compensated for the loss by piping music into the corridors before and after school.

Guidance Department

This year the Guidance Office was abolished at Highland Park High School. This change wasn't really too radical, though, for it was replaced by the Pupil Personnel Services Center, a longer name for the same thing. There were other innovations in Guidance this year. We gained an Abraham Lincoln when Mr. Alexander returned to school in September with a beard. In addition, Mr. Hein, a former HPHS history teacher returned to try his hand at another aspect of social study.

Of course, some things in the Guidance Office never change. Mrs. Hutchinson, a paragon of efficiency, continues with her amazing ability to remember everyone's name, to talk to a student and on the telephone at the same time, and to cope with fifty students all storming her desk at the same time to receive their SAT scores. Indeed, the PPSC is an ACTIVE place.

Students who enter the English department with Great Expectations, instead of climbing the ladder of success, are likely to find themselves rapidly falling down the ladder of abstraction.

Students, however, do succeed in many areas. After all, they have the benefit of Highland Park's own top-secret copyrighted invention: the three-three-three theme. This system has had to battle its way against a good deal of Pride and Prejudice, but it has emerged unscathed.

In addition to learning how to write, students who hang around the English department may pick up such fascinating tidbits of useless information as Mr. Grunski's art of rat swallowing. Of course, students do manage to pick up some facts which are a bit more pertinent to English. They learn the fool-proof method of passing any course—just dub the theme of every literary work either "immortality" or "loss of innocence."

All these factors combine to make the English department the second most popular in the school (next to the gym department, of course). English appeals to everyone, whether he be Poe or rich, Wilde or tame, Lamb or Woolf. A student may find that some poems just don't Sitwell. He may Nash his teeth as teachers pile Moore and Moore work on him. He may even decide that the grass is Greener in another department. He will soon find, however, that the English department is the most Thoreau at HPHS. It is only an English teacher who can answer the question, "What are a poet's Wordsworth?" (P.S.: The preceding article is not three-three, but after all, what is Donne is Donne.)

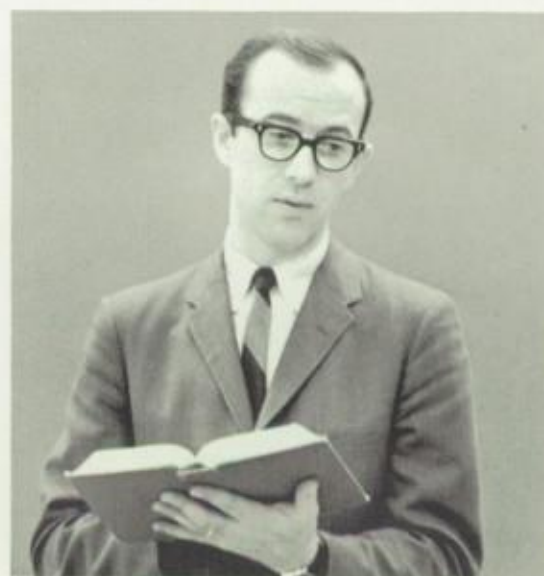

I don't want to call it the Instructional Materials Center—so there!

Special Services

As part of special services, the audio-visual division of Highland Park greatly expanded this year. New equipment includes a closed circuit television, more movie projectors, and the team teaching rooms. Along with the new equipment came Mr. Alsberg. Beside ordering and setting up the equipment, Mr. Alsberg makes video tapes of the special activities around the school.

Another area of the special services is developmental reading, where students strengthen their reading skills. The increased reading speed is helpful to students both in school work and in outside reading. The new vocabulary becomes a great asset when students take their college boards.

The teachers of special education are trained to help those students who have special problems. Next year, special education will be incorporated as part of the guidance and counseling services.

Miss Hildreth Spencer

Miss Rose Boghasen

We didn't lose our Hartz in the Social Studies Department this year—we stood our ground as the fittest in good Spencerian fashion.

The Department again covered many areas of study from King Charles I's attempt to marry his son to the economic (or were they political?) causes of the American Revolution. The Afro-Asian seminar provided a welcome relief from the "read-and-be-tested" classrooms, and students didn't even Keare about writing those twenty-page research papers. The Sociology classes found it difficult to solve the problems of abortion, discrimination, and Vietnam, but closing the door took care of the draft.

The American history classes continued to Pierce myths that have grown up about U.S. presidents. Students learned the shocking information that George Washington had red hair and wooden teeth. Students were even more disillusioned to find that Grant's first name, the only good part about him, was not Ulysses but Hiram.

In economics, Mr. Anthony continued to tell his fish story. Medieval history students continued their feudal search for the cause of the Dark Ages. Modern European history junior scholars Progressed on a diet of Praise God Barebones and Bourbon.

The students this year enjoyed a great opportunity to meet people outside of Highland Park. Roberto Velasco, Mikiko Moriya, Judy Armstrong, Roosevelt Cleveland, and Stanleigh Cooper all provided students with interesting insights into their worlds.

Science Department

The science department at HPHS provides more opportunities for students than any other . . . opportunities to break things, that is. Not only is it well stocked with the traditional beakers, thermometers, and slides, but also available are delicate balances, pipettes, multi-lense microscopes, and centrifuges.

Some science courses become dangerous at times. Woe to persons who tread the halls of the M100's during physics experiments. He is sure either to become entangled in heaps of slinkies or to receive a blow on the head from the whirling dervish type equipment which demonstrates centripetal force. The Chem Study students of Highland Park also have to look sharp when dealing with their high molarity chemicals. Five molar hydrochloric acid is nothing to be sniffed at. Biology holds its own set of trials and tribulations for the ardent young scientist. Besides hunting frogs in their natural habitat, it is also sometimes necessary to beat one's way through the dense vegetation of the greenhouse infested with as yet unidentified wildlife. DNA molecules once again proved to be the bane of sophomore biology students as they discovered the secrets of their innermost cells.

Besides the danger involved, the science courses try to fulfill basic goals. The department is mainly concerned with giving the student who does not hold science dear to his heart a basic background in the field and also providing those planning to specialize in science with an opportunity for independent study.

Math Department

Mr. Larry Brotzman
Department Chairman

The Mathematics Department of Highland Park High School teaches many facets of advanced arithmetic. In addition to learning the fundamentals of algebra, geometry, and calculus, students also learn about the other areas which math encompasses. Math is truly one of the graphic arts, for students can learn as much about drawing from one of Mr. McCord's twelve-problem graph exercises as from a week's sojourn in the Arc Institute. With its chords and logarithms, math also becomes part of music.

It would be a hyperbole to say that math teachers always stick to math in their classes. They go off on as many tangents as other teachers. Everyone knows that Mr. Brotzman has a big boat, a camper truck, and acute son. Everyone knows about Mr. Winkley's farm and, of course, about his goats.

Students do learn math eventually, though. It is from the Math Department at HPHS that students learn the best way of scalene the steep slope of the pyramid of life.

Sing along with Teach.

Innovations were numerous in Highland Park High School's language department this year. For French étudiants, a fifth year independent study program was initiated. For fourth year Spanish alumnos, classes to which Deerfield students were bused were instituted. The language department also had the closest thing to a "talk" hall at Highland Park this year. Although students could not talk to each other during the department's new system of open lab, they were able to do the next best thing—talk to themselves.

Despite these changes, some things in the language department remained traditional. Miss Tarry, for example, still starts her classes with the words, "La cloche a sonné." Miss Joiner continues to inquire "catch?" when she lectures. "Dites-moi quelque chose de sa vie" remains Miss McKichan's favorite way of beginning the study of a new author. In the Spanish department Mr. Kroll still protests, "English? I'm not a native speaker." The familiar "zut alors" of Miss Handzel always will serve as a bad example of well-spoken French. Similarly, Mr. Arreazola will forever impress upon his class the close relationship between Spanish and baseball (in the manner of a favorite teacher in the English department). Another tradition is the small bit of Greek which Miss Anderson gives to her fourth year Latin class each year.

Poor language students, those who insist on pronouncing "mais" as "maize" and "livre" as "leave her," will continue, of course, to drive teachers to the verge. Ill, sniffing, and sneezing pupils will always insist that speaking through the nose enhances a foreign language. Nevertheless, the language teachers, continuing to bellow, "It's Goethe, not goatie and Corneille, not Cornell," in the end, will overcome.

Music Department

The Music Department offers a great Liszt of opportunities for students interested in music. The keynote of the department is to give every student a chance to participate. Students have their choice of learning about music theory, about singing, or about how to play and Handel instruments.

Many factors have been instrumental in making the Music Department what it is today. The Music Staff and the students, too, have made notable contributions. What would the Music Department be without the wall-to-wall people who line its corridors every morning? And, what would the Department be without the annual spring shout, "Bach is back!"

Art Department

The art students who enter HPHS are often graphic examples of unvarnished talent. They are, however, immediately put to work creating masterpieces of rather dubious value. Future Michelangelos and potential Van Goghs express themselves through various mediums—medium good and medium bad. Some classic illustrations are the sculptures, which are really chips off the old block, and some of the paintings that really get the brush-off. (Maybe they have bad breath?) In spite of these shortcomings, the students never lose their perspective; they remain in proportion whatever happens.

Some of the students' paintings are barely paletteable, but success comes quite easily to others who mix colors red-ily. The art department prepares students well: they work their way through the primary colors; the secondary colors; and, of course, the collage colors.

Business Department

The business education department accounts for some of the most useful types of courses offered at HPHS. It insures that students know such practical and vital skills as how to file for bankruptcy and how to keep books. In addition to these taxing courses, the business education teachers also teach their students how to type right, how to coldly calculate, and how to file and defile. Students also invest their time in classes which teach fundamentals of finance, business law, retailing, and secretarial science.

There are many problems to overcome in business education. Students are shocked to find that type-writer keys are unlettered, that accounting is harder than trigonometry, that shorthand is as much a foreign language as French. Of course, there are compensations for these problems. Instead of hiking up three stories to their classes, the business education students now have the prettiest and most accessible rooms in the school. This just goes to show the Walls which can be surmounted with good management. (P.S. The preceding article is strictly personnel).

Considering that the culinary skill of the average girl entering Home Ec. is usually restricted to the creation of a perfect peanut butter and jelly sandwich, the strange aromas originating from this department at the start of the year were to be expected. However, as the year progressed, not only did the cakes become edible, even pleasing, but there also seemed to be improvements in the sewing department. The students, while acquiring experience in child care by running a nursery school, often found it necessary to defend their charges from remarks like "My stars, the freshmen get shorter every year." Egged on incessantly by their instructors, the girls were encouraged to meet the demands of the course, because, after all, everything was at steak.

Industrial Arts Department

"Wooden it be lovely" would be an appropriate slogan for the crafty students of the industrial arts department. Students in this department learn to make useful objects out of wood, to repair cars, and to work with metal and electricity. In addition to these regular activities, students also create the sets and scenery for Stunts and other school productions. These unique services show that the Industrial Arts students are always on their mettle. However, members of the department are still perplexed by the question "How much wood could a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood?" It is rumored, though, that the instructors searched for the answer to this problem but only saw dust.

Girls' Physical Education

Despite the fact that all girls allegedly take their gym suits home every week, the girls' gym department is still not as clean as it should be. Many rackets are found throughout the department. Lethal weapons such as hockey sticks, baseball bats, golf clubs, and arrows abound. Girls spend a great deal of time in the pool room, hanging around the bars, and tramping. Many girls are often Tanked up in dazzling, original Tank suits.

Because of the general atmosphere of evil, there is a good deal of mistrust in the girls' gym department. Teachers are so afraid that their phone will be spirited off that they keep it in the closet. Stealing is rampant in the locker room. If a girl doesn't lock her locker, for example, that noted klepto Mrs. Prell will take her clothes and hold them for ransom.

Often, not evil, but laziness is the main problem in the girls' gym. The girls indulge in a mystical ritual called Body Mechanics and Relaxation during which they sleep for forty minutes every day. When not sleeping, they lounge around listening to Beatle records all period. These girls are incorrigible; not even the cleansing efforts of Prell and Pons or the prohibition work of Carrie Nations can clean up this den of infamy.

Boys' Physical Education

"Let George do it" is the motto of the boys' gym department. Unlike the girls, the boys don't have to wash their own smelly gym suits; instead, they just hand their dirty uniforms to good ole George.

Although he doesn't have to be a good laundress, a student in boys' gym ought to be a Wiz in many areas of sports. With four years of such activities as soccer, wrestling, swimming, tumbling, softball, tennis, and touch football, a boy should emerge from high school in pretty good shape. Of course, this is after four years. After forty minutes of a strenuous gym period, however, a boy is lucky if he has the strength to make it to his next class. But of course, that's how the old ball bounces.

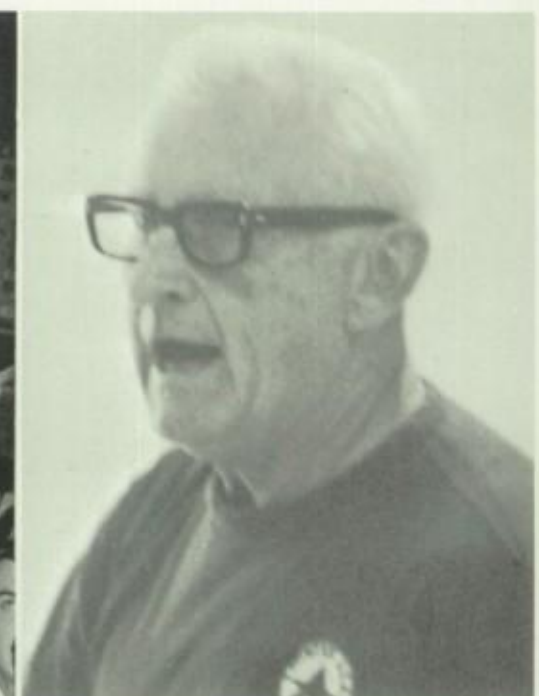

Go get 'em!

Traffic Safety

The driver's education course appeals to a great variety of people. The artistically oriented student appreciates the aesthetic quality of such films as Death on the Highway. The nosy student enjoys the private telephone conversations he can monitor on his car's walkie-talkie. He also likes to see how closely he can tail-gate another car or to slam on the brakes ten feet from the stop sign. Quickly he learns he can not make left turns from the right lane. For the violent student, there is always an opportunity to brake things—he can knock over stop signs, smash into other autos in the simulator, or shatter speed limits on the road. The efficient student admires the success of the drivers ed program—illustrated by the number of students who received their licenses on their first try. Thus, the driver education program is for everyone from the car-ful to the unyielding. Everyone auto take driver's ed, and everyone does.

"In my opinion, there isn't a drop in school spirit around here."

THE "BLOCK"-BUSTER

In the parking lot, the Ballenger gang was peeling stickers off the horses. Peering out of M-25, Deputy Collins warned Sheriff Margeson, who pulled out his trusty Krause-45 from the school chest. "My arm's strong; I can defeat them!" he said. Leaving Margy as gord on the fort, the posse rushed to the lot, but the Ballenger gang had left an eighth of a period before. "I bet that traitor Terry gipped us again and said we were coming," declared Marshall System. Executing a quick turnabout, Hirsching his deputies over the Fields and epp the steins, Sheriff Margeson overtook the gang. "This doesn't jill," said Ballenger, "How did they find us?" His gang ig-Nora-ed him. As a gail of wind arose ("They call the wind Moriya"), the two groups began to fight. "X-A-X!" swore Ballenger as he fell from his horse. "Halt!" cried Gordy, intervening, "I can settle this dispute—I conduct great student-administration discussions. Now take an oath of friendship: Jody, place your ear over your heart . . ." As the sun sank into the west, Sheriff Margeson invited everyone to his ranch where Ma T. Stein had prepared a meal of Kim-burgers with Velasco sauce.

American Field Service

To be franc, the American Field Service Committee actually is Sparta the Student Council. Profits from the sale of Canady at Snack Bar are used by AFS to support our foreign exchange students. The members try to Sweden the stay of their foreign friends by throwing parties to which everyone Con-go. Guidance is provided by the American "parents" who make sure that their guests do not Rome too far, especially in Chile weather. Exchange students from neighboring high schools all Russia to HPHS for the AFS weekend, highlighted by Stunts. Although it may seem difficult to converse in a combination of British, Japanese, and Spanish, the members of AFS would rather fight than Swiss their exchange students.

Students found Snack Bar unusually irresistible this year!

Boys' Club

Boys' Club, one of the few remaining all-stag strongholds in the school, (since even Varsity Club has been infiltrated) extended its big hairy arms and welcomed hundreds of new freshmen boys into its ranks this year. The boys, however, remained on friendly terms with Girls' Club, and again obligingly acted as waiters for the Mother-Daughter Banquet. In addition to this traditional service, Boys' Club sponsored several Fun Nights during the school year. The money obtained from these functions was awarded by the boys in the form of scholarships at the close of the year.

Girls' Club

As the Girls' Club picture shows, "Behind every great man is a woman." Despite this attitude, Girls' Club does not discriminate against boys. In fact, some of the members of the club have been heard to say: "Some of our best friends are boys." Of course, Girls' Club is segregated to a degree. Only girls can be salesmen in the Magazine Drive, gorge themselves at the Big-Little Sister tea, and be present at the annual scholarship weep-in. However, boys can participate in the affairs of Girls' Club by gallantly serving at the Mother-Daughter Banquet, collecting rubbish in the Clean-up Campaign, or buying magazines in the Magazine Drive.

Pep Club

Pep Club members, easily identified as those spectators whose faces turned alternately blue and white with anger, excitement, or frostbite (depending on the sport), were reminded again this year of the well-known axiom that the "Little Giants are GREAT!" Tremendous splashes were made when Pep Club organized the colorful swarm of window painters for Homecoming. Pep Club also sponsored an evening of caroling at the Highland Park Hospital, as well as an Ice Cream Social with an 1890's theme, which took place in March. Spreading good cheers, Pep Club Board had not only a clean and bright, but a White Section at several games, in addition to a few card and glove sections. Freshly-baked cookies were distributed as an added incentive for away games. Another innovation was the monthly bulletin through which Pep Club informed its members of cheerful events and spirited happenings.

A welcome addition to each game was the boystrous presence of the members of B.O.S.S. The boys bossed the spectators into cheering by screaming through megaphones and inventing their own cheers to add to the repertoire of the cheerleaders. Distinguished by their funny hats and their enthusiastic pep, the members rallied the spirits of drooping fans throughout every game. Boys Organization for School Spirit sponsored the car parade which every student auto have attended. Sporting effort was displayed when the boys gathered to sell buttons and conduct the float contest at Homecoming. Their influence was definitely heard throughout the year.

All year, the letter-sweatered Varsity Club members passed Gingerly among spectators at games to tackle the sale of mounds of programs. Project AWARE

Early every Saturday morning, sleepy but aware students board a bus for the Isham YMCA on Chicago's North Side. There, these youthful volunteers participate in a program designed to encourage understanding between Highland Parkers and the underprivileged children of Chicago. The students project themselves in an attempt to broaden the experiences of children who never knew the wonders of a trip to the zoo or a closetful of toys. In return, the Highland Parkers gain the opportunity of becoming involved in the aspects of a life which differs radically from their own.

Future Teachers of America

"The times they are a-changin'," apple-y applies to the renovation which FTA underwent this year. The owl, long the symbol of scholarly wisdom, was replaced by a white plushy dog with long silky ears and a saucy red bow. With "Take a teacher out to lunch" as their motto, the girls of FTA presented every teacher with a shiny red apple. Despite the success of the annual Student-Teacher Exchange Day, and an impressive roster of guest speakers, the girls once again failed in their project to make FTA co-educational. FTA encouraged the girls to make their teaching professions into more than just small erasures on that great big blackboard of life.

Bridge Club

If someone were really to call a spade a spade, he'd have to admit that Bridge Club is one of the gamier groups of the school. The members are heartless creatures; each one has a club to brandish against his opponents. The Bridge Clubbers certainly aren't old biddies; they're always up to some new trick. One purpose of Bridge Club is to play tournaments against other schools. The Bridge Clubbers hate to lose these tournaments though; that is the unkindest cut of all. When the Bridge Clubbers are caught double-dealing, they are often seen to do a royal flush.

Although the members of Debate Club are never speechless, they do possess the desire and ability to argue with anyone about anything at any time. Affirmatively speaking, their prowess at oratorical declamation is not a debatable topic. SHORELINE

Despite all sorts of pressing problems, the galleyant Shoreline staff has succeeded amazingly well in producing a newspaper every other Friday this year. Inking over the situation, the two editors, lords of the lines, rolled out the latest news. Flash reporters, eager to get their names in print, scoured every corner of the school for newsworthy items. The business section want-ad to sell enough space to balance the budget. Despite casualties incurred at athletic events, the Sports Section gamely covered every competition. Shoreline photographers never took a negative view of the developing situation. Although Dr. Munski was something of a sadinist in censoring dead lines, he readily admeyered staff initiative except on one point: "Get off those desks!"

Gridders close 0-8 season

"Our defense did a real good job in the first quarter, but tired later in the game." Those were the words of varsity football coach John Chickerneo after the Evanston game, and they might easily be applied to an 0-8 season suffered by the varsity eleven.

This trend was evidenced in the Proviso game in which the Giants with the help of a staunch defense dominated the first half. However, Proviso bounced back in the second half with two scores after a Parker fumble and a poor punt.

A tired defense also contributed to losses against Evanston, Waukegan, and Morton. The first quarter scores in each of these games read, 0-0, 7-6 and 6-0, Highland Park, respectively.

Despite a disappointing season, Highland Park had its bright performers. Halfback-quarterback Terry Baker ground out over 250 rushing yards, while halfback Pat Baker hauled in 14 passes. Linebacker Chip Mills finished with 48 tackles, and Rich Stockdale had 47. End Bob Wilson caught 11 passes.

Steve Olson, George Abrahams, Mike Margeson, Scott Hirtenstein, Pat Kelly, Kim Hammerberg, and Gary Wait also played well.

However, the honors received by halfback Dugan Rosalini, tackle Scott Addison, and fullback Jim Mauck spoke louder than their achievements. Addison and Rosalini were selected for the All Suburban team, while Mauck was chosen for the Honorable Mention squad.

With Terry Baker (46) leading interference, Dugan Rosalini grabs the football from Steve Olson . . .

With a host of opposing tacklers in pursuit, Pat Baker rips off yardage

Addison also had to his credit All Lake County and All State Honorable Mention as did Rosalini plus the All Area team.

Concerning Rosalini, Coach Chickerneo said, "If we had had a winning team this year, Dugan (Rosalini) would probably have been All State." The Giant mentor also called Addison "one of the Parkers' finest linemen in the past nine years."

Frosh eleven share title; Sophs grab fourth.

The soph football team started out slowly, but finished with a burst of speed. In their first four contests, the soph eleven compiled a 1-3 record, only edging Waukegan, 19-18. Parker Jim Pollack paced the team against Waukegan with three touchdowns and ended the season with a total of ten.

Behind the running of Pollack and Mauck, who had 8 touchdowns, and the kicking of Rich Fiore, they crushed their next three opponents by an average of 34 points a game. The sophs took fourth place.

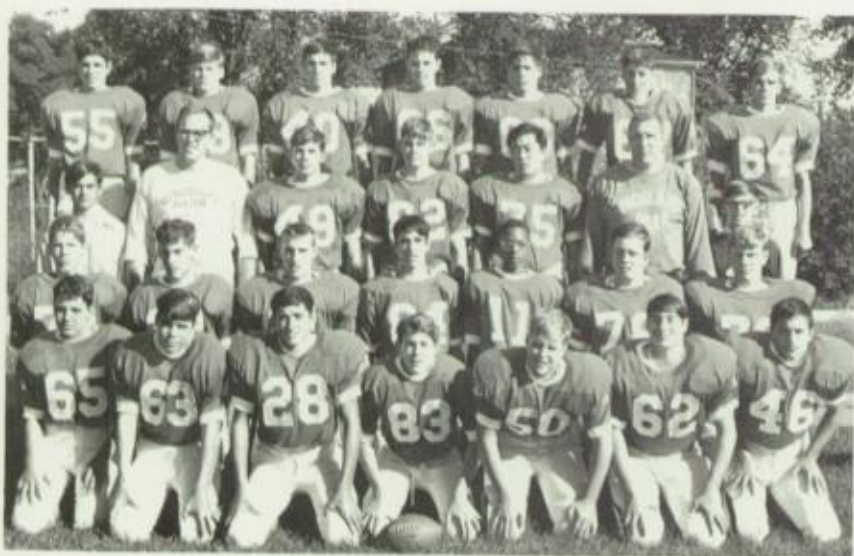

The frosh A football squad came within a yard of winning the League championship, but had to settle for a three-way tie. Against New Trier, the Baby Giants were stopped short of the goal line with a minute left to play. The team had a 5-1-1 record.

During the season, the frosh scored 135 points to 35 by their opponents. Jim Perry led the club with 15 touchdowns, including four in one game.

The B squad failed to win a game, but tied one.

Cross country is both an individual and a team sport. The 1967 Parker harriers, with only one returning letterman, were an excellent example of this. Although the team had no outstanding performer, it did have five very good runners of almost equal ability: Steve Baker, Tom Bradley (pictured above), Bob Dick, Rick Melvoin, and Mark Rosenbaum.

Perhaps the team's finest performance came against Waukegan. In this meet, all five boys finished in the top eight places as the Giants scored an upset win, 24-31, over the Bulldogs.

Bob Dick was the first to receive the Richard Ault Cross Country Runner of the Year Award.

This year's frosh-soph team had one of its best years ever. Led by varsity letter winners Bruce Garnitz and Mark Rose, the team compiled a 6-2 dual meet record to finish in a third place tie in the Suburban League.

Young cagers snatch sixth

"I was pleased with the season and although we were a young team, we competed well in the league which was the strongest I've ever seen." Those were the reflections of Coach Chuck Schramm concerning a Parker squad composed of only two seniors which boasted a 9-14 record.

In the league opener, the Parkers exploded for forty points in the second quarter and a torrid 53% shooting average to topple Oak Park, 100-67. Bob Wilson sunk the hundredth point, as 6-6 star center Brad Lind propelled the cagers with 35 points complimented by the scoring prowess of Dave Kaye and Dave Ori.

After falling to state champion Evanston, the incensed cagers took on Proviso, the only team who beat the Wildkits. The fine all-around playing of Lind, 16 rebounds and 22 points by Art Elliott and a tremendous performance by Steve Olson paved the way for a big win.

After the local five topped Deerfield in the state tourney, the efforts of hot-headed Kim Hammerberg and dazzling freshman ball handler Steve Borenstein almost triggered a regional victory over North Chicago.

High honors also came to Lind, Elliott and Kaye. Lind led the league in scoring for the second year, while Elliott was fourth. Both earned All-County and All-Area awards, while Lind was All-Suburban and All-State honorable mention.

Frosh overwhelm New Trier

Dave Kaye (41) gapes in amazement as the ball rolls away.

Steve Borenstein (12) tries in vain to stop an Evanston score.

Although the underclass basketball teams had many fine individual performers, none of the cage squads could really put together a winning basketball season.

Of all the Giant teams playing a full schedule, the sophomore A team came closest to a winning record, finishing the season at 7-10, while closing out the Suburban League with a 5-9 mark.

Forward Paul Neu was one of the outstanding players in the Suburban League. Leading the Giants in scoring on twelve different occasions, Neu averaged over 16 points a game, while also doing a fine job on rebounding. Hugh Regan and Alfred Cohen also were consistently among the top Parker scorers, with Regan doing an excellent job on the boards.

Larry Piacenza and Jim Pollack both did a commendable job for the soph cagers, proving to be pin-point passers and fine play makers.

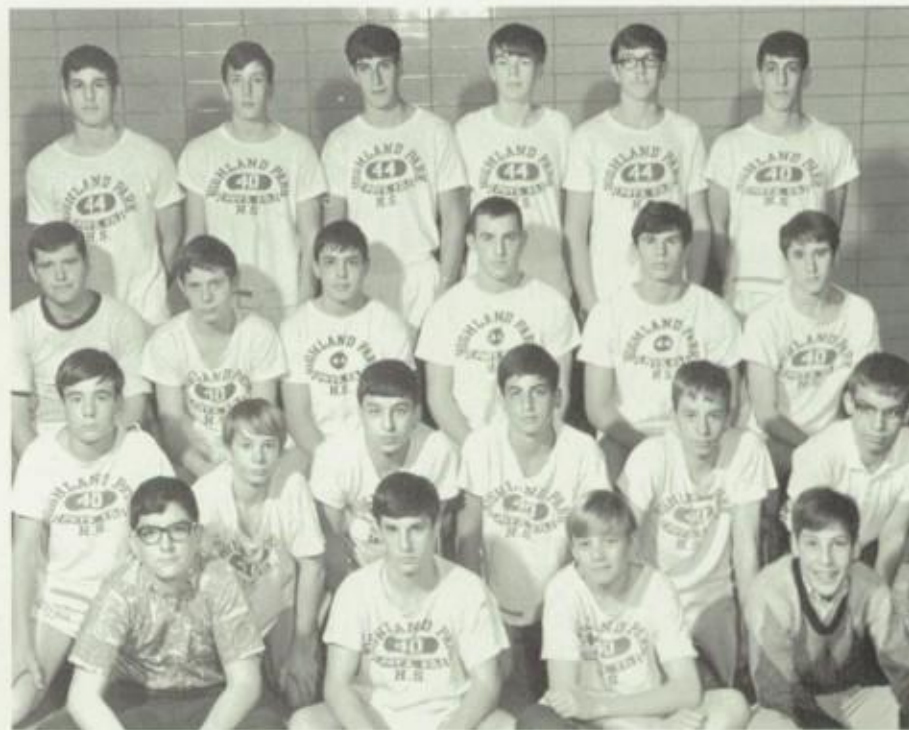

The sophomore B squad sported Highland Park's only winning record, although playing an abbreviated schedule. Led by Rick Zak and Ron Goldman, the cagers ended up 3-2.

Due to much juggling of its lineup, the Baby Giant A team finished the season with a 3-12 count while topping only New Trier on the last day of Suburban League play. Frank Travetto had the keenest shooting eye of all freshmen, averaging over nine points per game, while Bob Popke was a shade behind.

The freshmen B club started out strong, winning four of their first six games but slumped while the two leading scorers were elevated to the A club. Gerry Piacenza paced the squad with nearly an eight point average. Steve Ori and Dave Cantagello, who were both averaging over 14 points, were promoted to the A team.

Senior Mermen lead attack

With a core of six seniors leading the way, the varsity swim team finished a very successful season. In the freestyle events, the Giants were particularly strong, with Chip Mills and Ralph Rothfelder furnishing an excellent 1-2 combination. Mills, who had suffered a shoulder separation during football, came on strong at the season's end, setting team records of 22.8 seconds in the 50, and 50.4 seconds in the 100 yard freestyle events. He then finished ninth in the state in the 50, and eleventh in the 100.

Parker Chuck Sarkady also swam in the state meet and placed eleventh in the butterfly event. Sarkady splashed to a third in the butterfly and a fourth in the individual medley.

Rick Schuster handled the breast stroke chores for the varsity with considerable ability, just missing the varsity record of 1:06.9 by .2 seconds. Placing third in the District Meet, Schuster also swam on the fourth place medley relay team, along with seniors Rothfelder, Buzzy Ballenger, and Jim Bartholomew.

Soph diver Darryl Schoenstadt provided a surprise for the Parkers at the District Meet. Registering one of his finest performances, Schoenstadt came from behind to come in fourth in the district and qualify for the State Meet. Schoenstadt's performance helped the Giants to capture fourth place in their unusually tough district, and went on to take eighteenth place in the State Meet.

The Giants got off to a fine start this season, winning their first five dual meets before losing to powerful Evanston. Three meets later came perhaps the climax of the season: the Oak Park meet. Superb performances in every event brought the Parkers victory by a scant five points. This triumph helped the Giants gain a third place league finish.

The relay team of Ed Silverman, Kurt Keeler, Nick Rosa and Rich Osberg set a mark in the 200 yards freestyle, while the medley team of Silverman, Daryl Schoenstadt, Ron McLaughlin, and Osberg also set a new mark. Silverman won the 100 yard butterfly in the Suburan League meet.

Bruce Ratajczyk paced the frosh to a second place finish and an 10-1 season by setting records in the 50, 100, 150, and 300 yard freestyles. Rich Scoenstaedt set a mark in diving while Gary Zimmerman recorded the fastest time ever in the 50 yd. breaststroke. Grapplers make history

The varsity wrestling squad finally had a winning league season. It took 12 years for the grapplers to earn a 5-2 record good for a third place in the conference.

From the beginning, the balanced Giant team reeled off win after win only to be curtailed by late-season injuries. The Parkers first trampled Niles East, 33-16, and Mike Levy, 145, Dan Rosenberg, 103, Nate Resnick, 138, Rich Stockdale, 154, and heavyweight Paul Morris each contributed pins.

With Resnick and Stockdale coasting to weight class crowns and with third places by Joe Tobin, 133, and Morris, the Giants then walked away with a fourth place at the Lake Forest Xmas tourney. After a tough league loss to powerful Waukegan, 27-18, the grapplers humiliated Evanston, 29-16.

With history being changed by each Giant victory, the grapplers rolled over Proviso, 23-18, on a close 3-2 victory by Morris in the last match and a 15-1 rout by Gary Wait, 165.

As the Parkers victories mounted so did the notches on the Undefeated records of Resnick and Stockdale. Oak Park was then a 35-7 victim and underclass stand-outs Lance Ellman, 95, Laddie Tobin, 120, and Luca

Poeta, 127, easily topped their Huskie opponents. Fighting for second place, the matmen moved to a showdown with New Trier. In the Indian encounter, the lower weight classes won, but the Giants finally fell, 23-14.

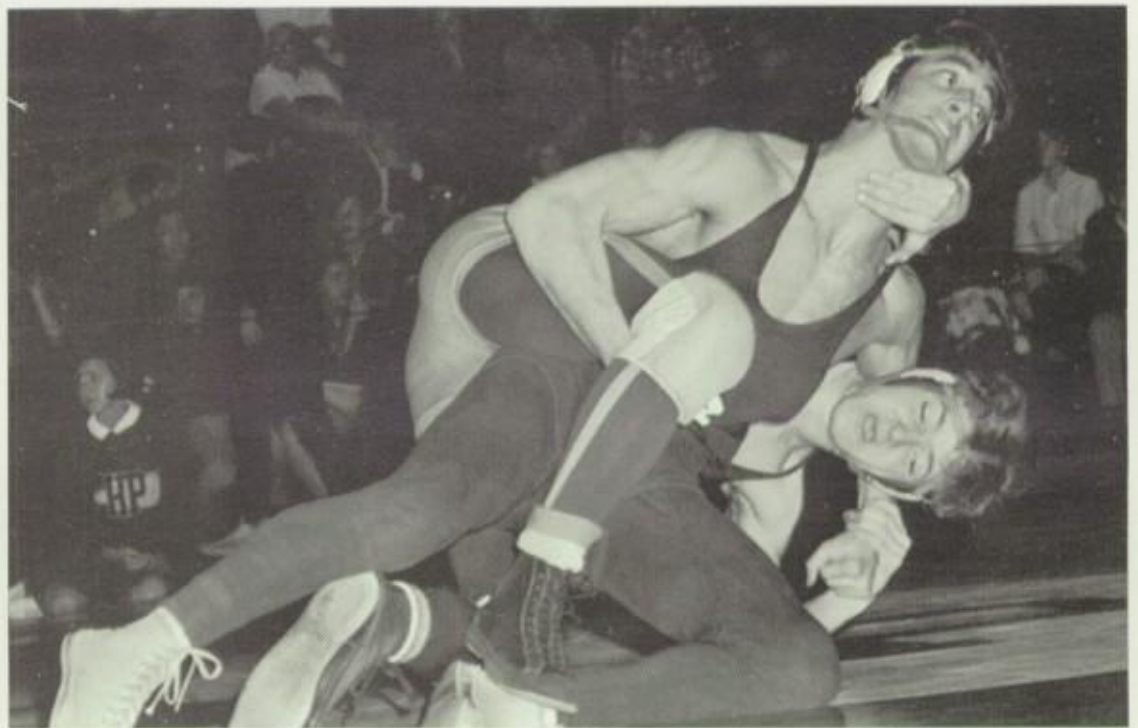

At the district and sectional meets, injuries to Joe Tobin, 16-2, Resnick, 19-1, Stockdale, 17-1, and Dave Reuben, 11-4, 112, took their toll and hopes for a state title were dashed. These wrestlers and Morris, Poeta, and Rosenberg advanced to the sectionals, but only Morris emerged and did not place in state.

"Giant grappler Nate Resnick utilizes a half-nelson to add valuable points in his rout over New Trier."

The ref gives Joe Tobin the winning nod after Joe sets up his Bulldog opponent for the pin.

Frosh, soph lighter weights wrestle well, top ten foes

Paced by the lower and middle weight class grapplers, both the freshman and sophomore wrestling squads sported impressive records for the 1967-68 campaign.

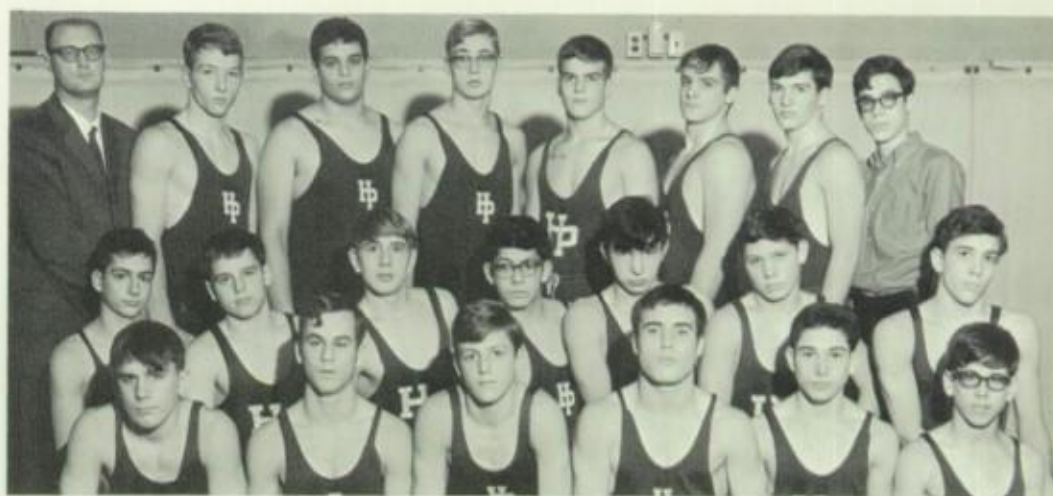

The soph matmen started the season strongly, downing Wauconda, 48-8, and went on to capture three of their first four matches. After faltering slightly towards the middle of the season, the Parkers bounced back, conquering their final four foes, including a 45-7 trouncing of New Trier East and a 40-8 flogging of Wheeling.

The Giants finished the year with an overall 10-3 mark, standing 5-2 in the rough Suburban League.

Leading the Highland Park attack were three boys in the lower and middle weight classes. Dan Sapir, 103 pounds, sported the best record of any Parker wrestler, amassing a 14-1-1 mark. Following Dan were 112 pound John Marks, 10-2 and Mike Tepner, 10-3.

If there were three things wrong with the freshman wrestlers, they certainly appeared to be Waukegan, Evanston, and Proviso, who handed the Parkers their only losses in eleven outings. Two of the more outstanding victories were a 53-3 win over Wauconda and a 44-10 win over Niles East.

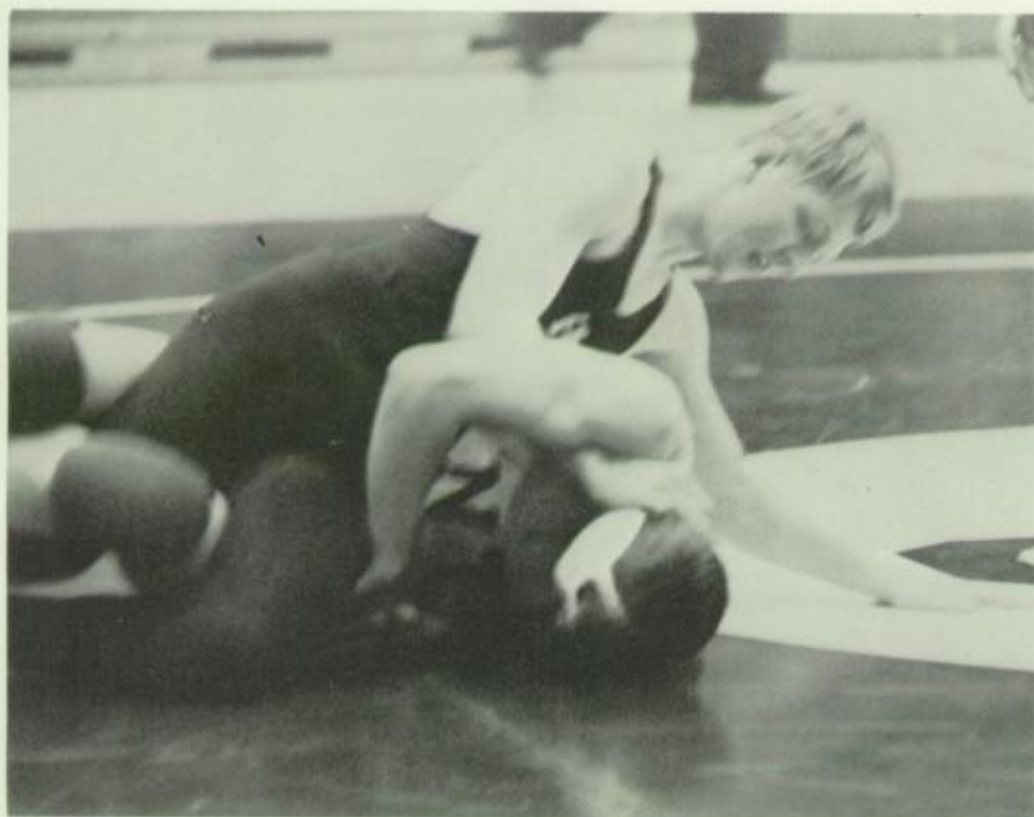

Hal Holmes, 127 pounds, led all the freshmen with a fine 11-2 mark, while Dave Ellman, 112 pounds, was second with eight wins and two defeats, and 95 pound Art Ori sported a 9-3 count.

The intramural program, headed by Mr. Chester Carlson, provided a full slate of competition. In the fall, Cianchetti's session, freshman, McGivern, sophomore, Pearson, Winkley, and Engstrom, junior, and Kroll, senior, walked away with class football championships.

Winners in the football skills contest were Dave Axelrood, Cianchetti; Hillel Singer, McGivern; Marc Sager, Winkley; Darryl Temple, Cardiff; and Jon Victor, Kroll. Other top placers were Seekamp, Edwards, and Winkley in the swim meet and Cianchetti and Asplund in the track meet.

In the basketball tourney, Edwards, sophomore; Arreazola, junior; and Cardiff, senior, took first places, while Ott, freshman, McGivern, Arreazola, and Kroll grabbed the highest honors in the season basketball competition.

The first recognizable effect of Blue-White Weekend was the annual invasion of the business district by hundreds of boisterous, barefoot window-painters. Friday evening, Highland Park students turned out in droves for the frenzied Snake Dance through town and the Pep Rally at its conclusion. During the rally, Ginger Moss, the second annual Homecoming Queen, was introduced with her court. The enthusiasm of the student body was not affected by Saturday's weather, which wreaked havoc with the field and Car Parade decorations. Despite a splendid effort, the Little Giants fell to Oak Park.

"George, I've decided to raise your spending money twenty-five cents a week. Not, of course, for chopping wood for your mother, because that's a present you give her, but because you're getting older—and I imagine there are lots of things you must find to do with it."

"It's like what one of those Middle West poets said: You've got to love life to have life, and you've got to have life to love life. . . . It's what they call a vicious circle."

"Good morning, Howie."

"Live people don't understand, do they?"
 "No dear—not very much."
 "Oh earth, you're too wonderful for anybody to realize you. Do any human beings ever realize life while they live it—every, every minute?"
 No. The saints and poets, maybe—they do some."

"So I guess this is an important talk we've been having."

"But, Mamma, you've got to say something about me. Am I pretty enough . . . to get anybody . . . to get people interested in me?"

"I've got to say it. You know there's something downright cruel about sending girls out into marriage like that."

Grover's Corners, U.S.A.

Thornton Wilder's Our Town was presented with very little scenery or props (excepting, of course, the rose trellises). However, many intangible props were brought into existence through the actors' extensive employment of pantomime. An entire town, in fact, was created for the audience, that of Grover's Corners, a sleepy, turn-of-the-century community, located somewhere in New Hampshire. The characters were universal: there were the Gibbs and Webb families, each with its typical crises and elations; Simon Stimson, the town drunk; Howie, a likable milkman; and Mrs. Soames, the incorrigible town gossip. Because you see, "it was an ordinary town with ordinary people and it was here that the daily drama of life and death was enacted."

"Children! Now I won't have it. Breakfast is just as good as any other meal and I won't have you gobbling like wolves. It'll stunt your growth—that's a fact."

Star Series

Seniors were treated to a group of celestial visions during the Star Series lectures this year. The fascinating glimpses into the humanities were really out of this world. Heavenly bodies twinkled across the stage when Sybil Shearer, the Alwin Nicolai troupe, and the University of Utah group danced in the HPHS auditorium. The modern poetry that the mercurial poet Paul Carroll read was truly up in the clouds. Mr. Carroll really shined as he read the poetry of Ginsburg, Ferlinghetti, and, of course, Paul Carroll.

Astronomy again was apparent when David Sharp, noted architecture instructor, discussed the sky and how to scrape it. The design of boxes of Kellogg's Sugar Stars was discussed when Morton Goldsholl, a graphic designer, spoke to seniors. Lawrence Janiak, a film producer, added to the spectrum of talent with his lecture on modern movie-making. Painter Leon Golub completed the galaxy of stars with his informative discussion of modern art. Of course, nothing can eclipse the effort of Mrs. Esserman and other faculty members who before each lecture helped to planet.

Arsenic and Old Lace

"Why last time I saw you darling, you were only knee high."

"You mean boys use body paint too?"

A Mom for All Seasons

This year, the Girls' Club Mother-Daughter Banquet was a gala evening for both mothers and daughters. The show was liberally seasoned with humor from the beginning to the fall of the final curtain. In addition to other skits, Mikiko Moriya performed a Japanese "cherry blossoms" dance and Judy Armstrong appeared in a very "English" mini skirt. The mothers presented the traditional Senior mother's skit, which, as expected, made the audience spring to applause.

Are they mothers or daughters?

AFS Weekend

Highland Park High School experienced a small scale invasion by a decidedly friendly force of close to thirty foreign students late this February. The students were met by a number of collaborating Highland Parkers who served as their hosts for the entire American Field Service Weekend. During their stay, the seemingly innocent but enterprising guests maneuvered their way into the local military installation, Fort Sheridan, where government officials vainly attempted to distract them with scenic pamphlets and tales of the capture of Sitting Bull. In addition to this strategic triumph, the students also attended classes, dinners, several parties, and the opening of Synothe Times. Following Saturday morning's farewell brunch, the AFS students martialled their forces and deployed their pencils to exchange logistical information (addresses and other pertinent data). Having added an aura of foreign intrigue to Highland Park, the company showed off for their respective bases.

Daddicrats, Daughtercans, and Dirty Dishes

The onslaught of H.G.A. initiates brought the bunny hop back to HPHS. Bedecked in strange outfits and wearing pigtails, the girls showed just how crazy they were by cleaning the lunch tables. Surviving the initiation, the girls were free to enjoy this year's Father-Daughter Banquet, "Daddicrats and Daughtercans." With all the trappings of the democratic process, the Supreme Court voted the juniors winners of the filibuster. The judgment may next year be up for appeal.

"I'd rather avoid the publicity."

Should a gentleman offer a Tiparillo to a lady?

"I'm not that crazy."

Synothe Times

Stunts '68 was indeed a newsworthy production. Synothe Times not only presented the usual innocuous material, but also came out with some bitter satire. In ruthlessly assailing President Johnson, the D.A.R., the Republican Party, the Hippies, the Martians, the stock market, Mary Worth, and hate everywhere, Stunts displayed a shocking candor never before witnessed in an HPHS presentation. Of course, there was always the Senior Girls' Chorus Line to restore decorum.

"The beginnings and endings of all human undertakings are untidy, the building of a house, the writing of a novel, the demolition of a bridge, and, eminently, the finish of a voyage."

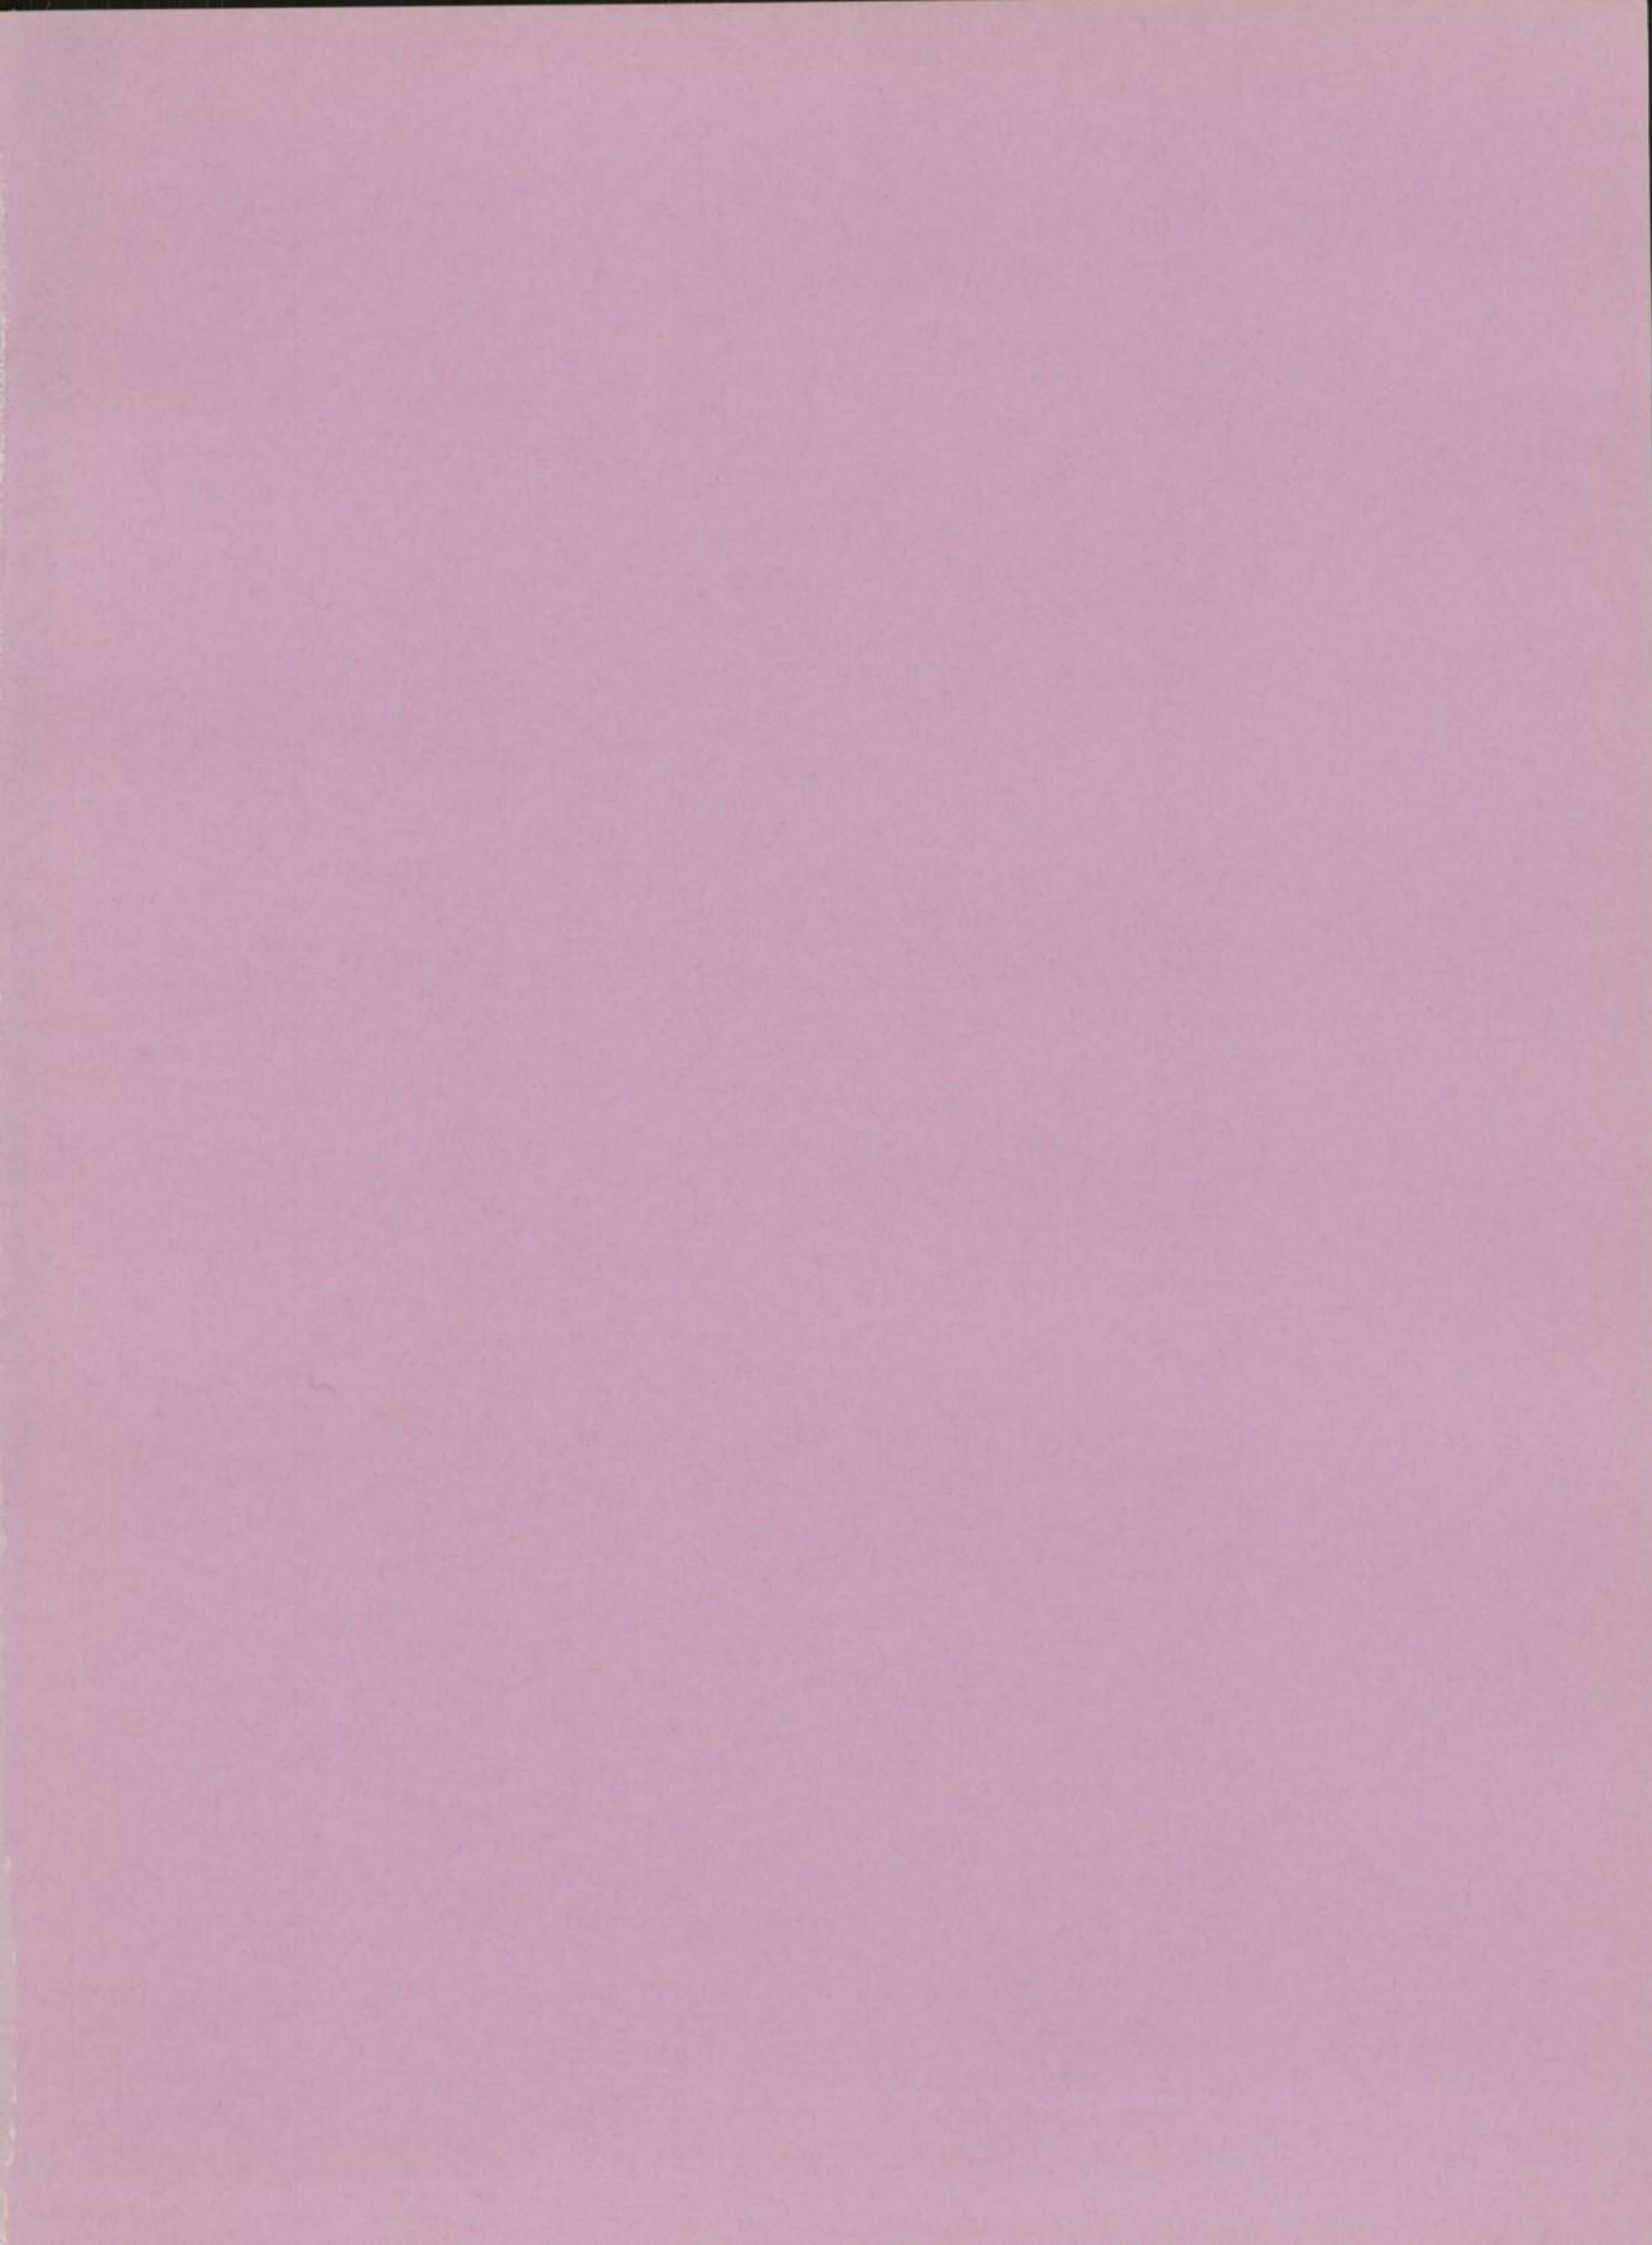

John Galsworthy

The ending of Little Giant '68 is no exception. My gratitude is extended to Walinger Studio for their prompt and efficient service, and to Mr. Haney and Mr. Snyder of Consolidated Graphic Arts Corporation for their professional suggestions and criticisms. The whole staff wishes to thank the teachers of the English department for their toleration of the noise constantly emanating from M201A. In addition, we congratulate Dr. Munski for his unflagging moral courage in the face of daily crises. I personally would like to thank our photographers Jim, Ira, Ralph, and Mike for their willingness to develop pictures for the impending deadlines, our business managers for their valiant attempts to balance the books, and hard-working staff editors such as Stuart, Debbie L., Amy, and Jan. My thanks can only inadequately express the debt I owe to Debbie H., Carla, Sue, and Audrey for all the time and effort they devoted to the book and all the encouragement they devoted to me. I also would like to thank Miss Pons and Miss Caliendo for gracefully excusing my "unavoidable" truancies. The custodians too deserve special credit for the amiable companionship and assistance they provided on deadline week nights. Of course, I heartily appreciated the promptness of the entire staff in showing up for the yearbook picture.

Lynn

Personal: A price list of all take-out orders is up in M201A. All staff members who have not paid up are asked to do so before June 13.

Varsity nine take districts

The year 1968 was one of "ups-and-downs" for the Parker varsity nine, as they were in striking distance of the league leaders on numerous occasions and came close to a regional win. Plagued by early season miscues and pitching problems, the squad ended the first half of the season with a 2-5 record.

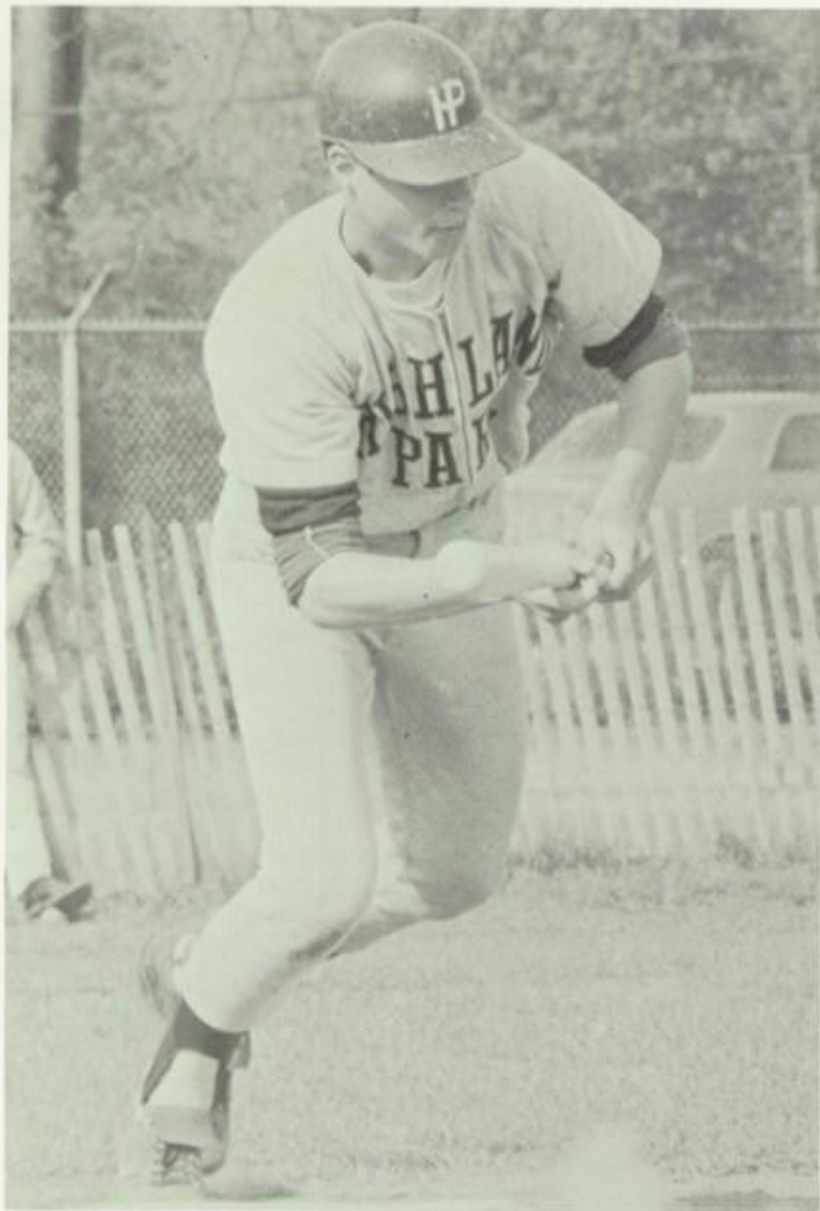

The Parkers just seemed to fall short in the initial games, as Proviso topped them in extra innings, and despite roundtrippers by Dugan Rosalini and Chuck Page, the local nine was still humiliated by the Indians. Later, however, the Parkers gathered a momentum which was curtailed only by a regional loss to Waukegan, 3-2. The surge started, as the previously undefeated Bulldogs felt the sting of Pat Baker's pitching. After a 9-1 trampling of Evanston paced by the hitting of Marty Stein and Pete Phillips, the Parkers edged Lake Forest, 9-8, and Wheeling, 2-1 in the districts. Then the Giants fell to Waukegan.

"Being beaten in the tourney," said Coach Land, was the turning point of the season. Since it was late in the year and we were in contention for the league crown, it was hard for us to play the best ball we could." Demoralized, the local nine ended with two losses and a win.

First sacker Art Elliott (.360), shortstop-outfielder Pete Phillips (.357), and catcher Dugan Rosalini (.290) were named All-League.

Sophs close to title

Three percentage points prevented the finest Highland Park sophomore nine from winning a championship. The sophs were edged out of the title after losing both ends of a final day doubleheader to Morton and finished with a $9\frac{1}{2}$ — $3\frac{1}{2}$ log.

The notable hurling of Paul Neu (4-1), Al Cohen (4-0), and Jeff Schell and the timely hitting of Hill Singer, Brad Fisher, Mike Forman, Hugh Regan, Dan Doty, and Bill Hoffman were integral parts of the team's success.

The frosh had a 4-10 slate in league play.

Juniors Dominate Track

The 1968 track squad achieved the success it did because of its fine group of Junior athletes.

The thinclads were strongest in the sprint department. Although there were no outstanding sprinters, the Giants possessed the depth so vital to withstand the long season. This depth paid off handsomely with two records. The four lap relay team of juniors Mark Brower, Steve Siegel, Jeff Stern, and Mark Rosenbaum clipped .2 seconds off the existing indoor record to establish a new mark of 1:16.2. In the outdoor season, Brower, Siegel, and Stern teamed with Rick Melvoin to smash the fourteen year old 440 yard relay record. The new mark of 44.6 seconds represents a phenomenal improvement of .6 seconds over the 1954 record.

Melvoin and Rosenbaum also stood out individually for the Parkers. Melvoin, the only member of the '68 squad to qualify for the state meet, tied the outdoor quarter mile record with a time of 49.9 seconds. Rosenbaum, the Suburban League indoor broad jump champion, placed high in almost every big meet.

Jim Dodd matches his opponents stride for stride in the 180 yard low hurdles.

F - S Team Wins Lake Shore

"It was one of the nicest things I've seen in all my years at Highland Park." In this way, Coach Mel Edwards described the frosh-soph team's upset victory in the Lake Shore Track Meet.

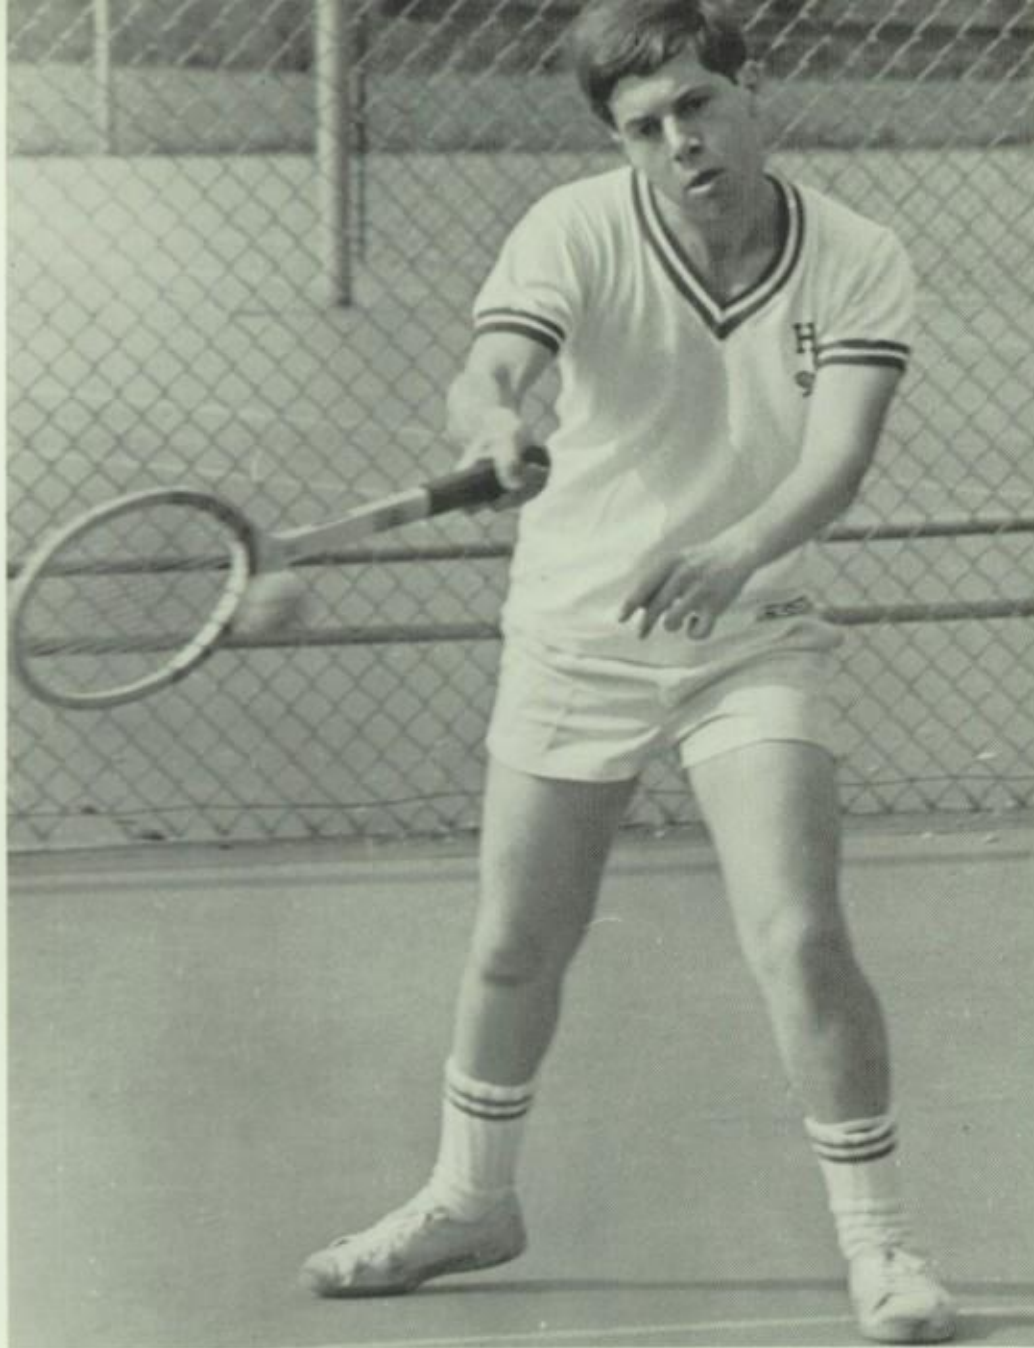

Top individual point getters in this meet were Ben Platt with nine points and Russell Vai with eight, but without the total effort of everyone participating, victory would have been impossible.

First places in this meet went to Jim Pollack in the shot put, Platt in the 100 yard dash, and the Frosh 440 yard relay team. Other top placers were Cataldo Acello in the low and high hurdles, varsity two mile record holder Bruce Garnitz in the half mile, and Ron Goldman in the high jump.

All in all, the frosh-soph squad finished the season with a 7-2 dual meet record, highlighted by an important win over Deerfield. The freshman team, led by Jerry Bernay, Rick Calhoun, and Jim Perry, concluded their season with a victory in the Deerfield Freshman Invitational.

Russell Vai surges ahead in the 220 yard run.

Singles' ace Tom Magnus reaches out to return an opponent's volley.

Varsity finishes third

Both Highland Park tennis teams completed fairly good 1968 schedules, but lacked real over-all strength which might have made them top-notch teams. The varsity squad captured third place in both the league meet and in the final standings. The number one man on the team was Jim Cole who did a creditable job in light of his competition, including Mark Bishop, Illinois state champion, who edged Cole, 6-1, 6-2. Sophomore Scott O'Connel was in the second singles slot most of the season. Scott placed fourth in the District meet, downing his first two opponents, 6-4, 6-1, and 6-1, 6-1, before being eliminated in the semi-finals. Tom Magnus played in the third singles position, taking first place in a quadrangular meet against Waukegan, Zion Benton, and Lake Forest. Rounding out the singles players was Peter Cerf, who filled in for O'Connel towards the end of the season. The doubles combinations actually had to hold up a larger share of the chores, with both teams advancing to the semi-finals in the Suburban League meet. Larry Coff and John Morris played first doubles for the Parkers, with Jon Rosenblum and Dan Rosenhouse assuming the second doubles position.

The Baby Giants wound up the year in fourth place, paced by Greg Mandell, second singles, who was undefeated. Tod Logan and Steve Rotblatt were at the other single slots, while Jeremy Rosenblum and Dave Birnbaum were the only established doubles team.

Linksmen tied for second

With good weather permitting extra days of practice this spring, the Giant golfers had a tremendous season, with the varsity links-men tied for second in the Suburban League, and the frosh-soph squad capturing the circuit. Among those spearheading the Giant attack was Jim Crowley, whose 77 in the District meet was but one stroke too many to earn him a crack at the State championship. Also pacing the Parkers was sophomore Bob Flamm, who shot an 80 in the league meet, tying him with Crowley for top honors for the Giants. In the league meet, Jim Hyman had an 81, Verne Reich and Laz Chapman 82's, with all three of these golfers performing consistently well throughout the season.

Rich Lindar, Bob Keats, Frank Travetto, and Rich Goulding combined to lead the junior crew to a championship.
